

THURSDAY EVE., DEC. 23, 1888.

The bill increasing the duty on Sumatra tobacco has been defeated in the House of Representatives.

The United States Court at Covington has ordered the sale of the Cincinnati and Southeastern Railroad, to satisfy a mortgage held by the Union Trust Company, of New York.

Miss MATTIE TODD has been re-appointed postmistress at Cynthiana, and there's likely to follow some big kicking on the part of the defeated. Miss Todd has held the place for eight years.

There is no let-up in the pension scheme, and if Congress will only listen to such measures the surplus will soon disappear. Better pay it out to the soldiers, though, than let it lie idle in the treasury vaults.

The assessment of property in Jefferson County under the Hewitt Revenue bill shows the remarkable increase of $20,000,000 over that of last year. Here's $20,000,000 of property in one county alone that has been escaping taxation, for years no doubt. The principal opposition to the new law comes from the tax-dodgers, mainly.

Stock and Crops.

B. J. Tracy, of Lexington, has recently refused an offer of $18,000 for Bermuda and $3,000 for Repetition.

George M. Clay, of Bourbon, has sold to E. Corrigan a sister of Modesty for $4,000.

Strother Goff, of Clark County, has recently sold fifty steers, averaging 1,772 pounds, at 4½ cents.

R. C. Salter, of Boyle County, has sold to Israel Brown, of Cincinnati, four Christmas beavers that averaged 1,908½ pounds, at 6½ cents.

Among the racers sold at Lexington last week were the following: Blue Wing sold to S. B. Brown, of Pittsburg, for $7,400; Bourbon to E. Tucker, New York, for $3,300; Para Rye to D. T. Puffer, Chicago, $2,500; Montrose to A. S. Nabold, Cincinnati, $4,100; Duke of Bourbon, S. S. Brown, $6,000.

New Ideas in Jewelry.

[Jeweler's Weekly.]

Among new flower-pins is the pond lily, with diamond center.

In plated work the bright-cut satin finish is still the most popular style.

Circles of small opals, each surrounding a large pearl, make pretty earrings.

The newest bottles for aromatic salts are made of antique silver, chased in Rinceau designs.

For pendants on Queen chaina, faceted cubes, vinegrains, knots and odd shapes seem to be the favorite style.

Bug and fly pins appear to be increasing in size, and the opal is in great requisition for the bodies of the insects.

Cats' heads, made of small diamonds and placed on a spiral wire, are among the new ornaments used for the hair.

The soft, will-o'-the-wisp-like glow of the fairy lamp gives a beautiful effect in the drawing-room, or conservatory.

A rare new bracelet is a single narrow band of gold set with a topaz over a half inch wide and at least long, with diamonds on each side.

Opals are now used with good effect in combination with rubies or diamonds, in the popular line of flower-pins in Roman or matched finish.

Myriam earrings, made of enameled gold in the form of snakes and ropes, are in favor this fall. They are generally enameled in blue and garnet.

The spinal seems to be in part supplanting the place hitherto occupied by the ruby as a companion gem, and in brilliancy is little inferior to the more costly rival.

Brutal Prize Fight Stopped.

NEW YORK, Dec. 23.—At Masters and Paddy Burke, of Newark, N. J., met in the old Salvation Army barracks at Eastman, Staten Island, now used as a saloon by Jack Dempsey, early this morning to fight for a purse of $100. The men were to fight at 16 pounds, six-eight gloves, Queensbury rules. During the fifth round Capt. Cobb, with a posse of twenty-two officers, broke in the doors. The principals and about thirty witnesses were arrested. They were furnished for the principals. The battle was brutal in the extreme, both men having given and received fearful punishment. At the time of the raid the result was in doubt. Masters was the favorite in the betting.

Father and Child Assassinated.

BAKERSVILLE, Tex., Dec. 23.—Genaro Estrada and his little daughter were walking in the suburbs of Concordia, when they were approached by Juan Arenal, who, without warning, drew a stiletto and stabbed father and child to death. The father lived long enough to tell the tale. Arenal was a former lover of the murdered man's wife.

An End to Bone Scraping.

Edward Shephard, of Harrisburg, Ill., says: "I have needed so much relief from Electric Bitters, I feel it my duty to let suffering humanity know it. Have had a running sore on my leg for eight years; my doctors told me I would have to have the bone scraped or leg amputated. I used, instead, three bottles of Electric Bitters and seven boxes Bucklen's Arnica Salve, and my leg is now sound and well."

Electric Bitters are sold at fifty cents a bottle, and Bucklen's Arnica Salve at 50¢ per box by J. C. Pecor & Co., and S. P. Campbell & Co., of Aberdeen Ohio.

The witness and jury fees in the latter court alone amounted to more than $125.

A MEMORABLE DISASTER.

Sinking of the Shepherdesa in 1844.

The recent burning of the elegant steamer, J. M. White, on the lower Mississippi, accompanied by such an appalling loss of life, has recalled many similar disasters that have occurred in the past. Some of our exchanges have referred to the sinking of the Shepherdesa in 1844 within three miles of St. Louis, while en route to that place from Cincinnati. The Shepherdesa was in command of Captain A. P. Howell, of Covington, father of Mrs. H. C. Barkley, of this city, and the details of the terrible calamity, together with an account of the heroic conduct of Captain Howell and Robert Bullock, of whom the latter was a citizen of this place, is given in the following, clipped from the Covington Commonwealth:

The Shepherdesa was the property of Captain A. P. Howell, of this city, and was making her first trip under his ownership and control. Within sight of the city of St. Louis, in the winter of 1844, the boat struck a snag and sank. The crew was sudden, and the effect terribly fatal. The hull was splintered, and the water rushed madly into the hold. It was 10 o'clock at night when the accident occurred, and in the darkness of a winter's night, with ice swirling about her and the wild winds whistling through her cabin, whose doors were thrown wide open from cold and being bold and fearless swimmers whose horror, none who witnessed them, would ever desire to see reproduced.

The force of the current backed the boat off from the snag and she began to drop down the stream and to settle toward the bottom at the same time. Every effort was made to save the passengers and to get to the hurricane deck. In this difficult and perilous task the boat was soon submerged above her guards—a young hero was assisted by William Howell, the Captain's oldest son, who accompanied his father on the trip. This brave young man's life was spared at that time, but he has now been dead some twenty odd years. Young Bullock, after assisting all the women and children to the roof, dived himself of his coat and wrapped them about those who were suffering most from cold and being bold and fearless swimmer, sprang into the dark water amid the ice and swam to the Illinois shore.

It must be remembered that all this time the ice and water were creating the loss to pieces. The cabin was torn away and by the lurching of the wreck from side to side many were washed off and crushed. After reaching the bank, Bullock found two ladies who had been brought to land in a skiff, and being overcome with cold, perished in trying down to step. He saved their lives by walking them about and pounding them with his hands until help came.

His conduct at the time elicited the most extravagant admiration, but his gallantry was permitted to go unmarked, and about two years after the terrible catastrophe he quietly passed away. Captain Howell, when last seen, was standing on the hurricane deck near the front of the boat resting his big head as a signal of danger and an appeal for help. And there the ill-fated hero stood until a falling chimney crushed, mutilated and dashed him into the raging billows, never to be seen nor heard of more. In the darkness of darkness he stood, while the icy waves crashed his boat to pieces beneath his feet, true to his duty and faithful to his passengers' trust. Astonished almost by a sense of duty, he stood meekly at his post and found at last burial in the very element he had always loved.

Strange, strange, indeed it is, that Captain Howell should have been one of six brothers the friend their friend beneath the boom of one greater river and in the brief despite of raging seas, and yet none is the truth. Captain Howell was the father of thirteen children, and was a loving wife and a devoted mother. His wife, broken by the shock of his death, did not long survive him. Of the ten children, seven are yet alive. Mrs. Howard, Mrs. James, Mrs. Martha A. Brann, Mr. C. P. Howell and Mr. George W. Howell are now residing in this city, and their names are prominent in the business circles of this city. Mrs. M. A. Finch resides in Texas, and Mrs. H. C. Barkley is a resident of Mayville in this State. Every member of this remarkable family has striven to honor the name of their father and mother in this life, though deprived of their father and mother in their early youth.

The total number of lives lost by the accident was never definitely ascertained, as the books and register of the boat were destroyed, but the testimony of the passengers places it between forty and fifty. Many acts of heroism were performed during the terrible scene by persons whose names are unknown now, but in that great record of accounts kept by him who never makes an error the grandeur of their deeds is written, and at the proper time they will receive the full measure of a righteous reward.

RECIAT. Lovers of fine art and innocent fun will attend Mrs. Otton's Drawing Room Recital at opera house next Tuesday evening. The programme will abound in fun and pathos. Miss Flossie Benjamin, of Cincinnati, an artist of note, will charm her hearers with the lively strains of the magic flute. Miss Bishop, a vocalist of rare power, will render some fine selections, while little Miss Maud Stout will sing and dance to the tune of her tambourine. Mrs. Otton will be heard in a new repertoire of comedy and tragedy. Other attractions are to be added to the above brilliant array of talent. The price of admission is within the bounds of all, and we predict an overflowing house.

WEDDING BELLS. The marriage of Mr. Foster Barbour and Miss Mary B. Hays was solemnized last evening at 8 o'clock at "Haywood," the pleasant home of the bride. The groom is the cashier of the Bank of Mayville, and has occupied a most prominent place in the business circles of this city for years. He is a gentleman of the highest type of manhood, and is universally respected wherever known. The bride is the eldest daughter of Rev. John S. Hays, D. D., pastor of the First Presbyterian Church and also principal of Haywood Seminary. For the past year she has had charge of the musical department of her father's school. She is one in whom the many lovely traits of womanhood are united and the groom is to be congratulated upon the prize he has won. The wedding was a quiet home affair, the relatives and a few intimate friends only of the parties being present. The father of the bride officiated. He was assisted by Rev. John Barbour, a brother of the groom. The bridal party left on the steamer Bonanza at 11 o'clock for Cincinnati, and from there they will go to New York and other points of interest in the East.

MISS NORA B. CALHOUN, of this city, and Mr. Charles F. Babcock, of Joliet, Ill., were united in marriage at high noon today at the residence of the bride's mother in the West End. No invitations had been sent out, and the news of the affair will, no doubt, be in the nature of a pleasant surprise to many of the bride's friends. But few outside of the relatives of the parties being present. Rev. J. Wood Fogg officiated, and spoke the words that united the happy couple for woe or woe. The bridal party left on the afternoon train for Joliet, where the newly-wedded will make their home in the future.

Anti-Rock Rent Agitation Increasing Throughout Ireland—Report of the Fight at Stanley Falls Continued—German Affairs—Fall of Kessel—Notes.

DUBLIN, Dec. 23.—The anti-rock rent agitation is increasing throughout Ireland, despite the desperate efforts made by the Government to suppress it. The tenants of two large estates in the province of Ulster have demanded a 25 per cent reduction. The tenants of the Duke of Leinster, in County Kildare, met again and modified their demand for a reduction in rent, asking now 20 instead of 25 per cent.

Berlin Notes.

BERLIN, Dec. 23.—It is reported that on the resumption of the Reichstag a letter from Emperor William will be read, declaring it to be the duty of the members to support the military bill.

The French officer, Ladrière, who was arrested at Carlsruhe on suspicion of being a spy, claims that he should be liberated on the ground that he merely stopped at Carlsruhe while making a tour in Germany in his own name, and that the spies of the German government obliging French officers traveling in Germany to make such a tour, he was obliged to comply only to Alano Lorraine. The authorities attach much importance to the arrest. The Strasbourg Post says that the papers found on the prisoner are "without military or strategic value."

Advices from Prague say that Russian agents there and in other parts of Bohemia are engaging gunmakers for Russian factories which have urgent contracts to fulfill. The workmen, it is said, are offered higher wages than they now receive. Prince Bismarck has almost all the members of his family at Frederick's Ruhe, at Christmas, excepting Count Harther Bismarck.

A Fight With Arabs.

BRUSSELS, Dec. 23.—Capt. Couillat, chief of the Bergolia station in the Congo free state, who is here on a visit, confirms the report that Lieut. Duval was drowned in the Congo river while retreating from Stanley Falls station. The evacuation of the place by the white Capt. Couillat attributes to a short supply of ammunition. The captain reports that after the unsuccessful attempt of himself and party to retake Stanley Falls from the account to which he was driven by ambush fired by the Arabs along the river banks, he published the Arabs severely at Zeparra. Capt. Couillat does not believe that the capture of Stanley Falls station is the prelude to an Arab desertion on the Lower Congo, and says there is plenty of time to bar the passage of the river. He says he attempts such a move and to retake the Falls station.

DUBLIN, Dec. 23.—At Armagh to-day a party of men called on the Rev. Dr. F. J. Fretter and asked to see Proctor's son, who is twenty-two years old. When the son appeared they stabbed him to the death on the spot. Two of the assassins were arrested. The motive for the crime is unknown.

Foreign Notes.

Mr. Parnell's friends state that he has been very ill and that for several weeks his condition has been really dangerous. When he has sufficiently recovered he will convene the Irish parliamentary party in council.

The Vienna Telegraph says the Roman council has determined upon a scheme contemplating the occupation of Central Asia; the line of which will extend toward the Black Mountains and include Iran.

SENATORIAL FISTICUFF.

Georgia's State House the Scene of a Disgraceful Fight Between Senators.

ATLANTA, Ga., Dec. 23.—The state house was the scene of a senatorial fistfight Monday night, the participants being Representative Gardner, of Pike county, and Mr. A. A. Murphy, of Barnesville, who was defeated for the legislature by the former on "wet" and "dry" issue. The committee on temperance of the house met to consider a bill which was introduced by Mr. Gardner, to reinstate the question of license, or no license to the people of Pike. Mr. Murphy was present to oppose the bill, while Gardner favored it, and in the course of his speech resorted to vituperative terms to Murphy and cast reflection upon his family.

Murphy appealed to the chairman for protection in the committee room, saying he could protect himself with his sword and would hold Gardner responsible. As soon as they were out of the door, Mr. Murphy approached Gardner and said: "I'll show you whether I'll hold you responsible," and planted his fist on Gardner's jaw. The fight lasted three or four blows upon his face in quick succession. Gardner staggered and fell heavily. Immediately members of the committee intervened and stopped all further fighting. Great efforts were made to keep the matter secret. Both men are now in the hands of their friends, who refuse to talk as to what action will be taken.

The Champion Whisky Drinker.

TOLEDO, O., Dec. 23.—W. McCune, an old resident of East Toledo, finished a two-day spree as fifty-year life, last night, by drinking a quart of whisky. A post-mortem examination was held, and revealed the fact that the whisky had caused a rash of blood to the brain with such force that a clot of blood had formed. It was learned that McCune had drank a gallon of whisky in two days.

Senatorial Contest in Michigan.

LANSING, Mich., Dec. 23.—In the senatorial contest each candidate is conducting a still hunt. Col. Fingert yesterday engaged all the spare apartments in the Lansing hotel.
